Panel hears Glades residents want jury trials to resume locally

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

Almost 15 years ago, Glades residents didn't have to drive to the coast to serve on a jury. They could go to the West County Courthouse. In the mid-1980s, jury trials were discontinued in the Glades and local residents and police officers have since been driving approximately 50 miles to the courthouse in West Palm Beach when called for jury duty or to attend depositions.

Now, a panel appointed by the county commission is studying the possibility of bringing jury trials back to the West County Courthouse. The panel met with local officials Thursday, July 13 at the West County courthouse.

South Bay Police Chief Danny Jones told the panel it was a hardship for his officers to travel to West Palm Beach to give depositions. He said it is also financially draining on his small town when he has to bring in officers to work while others are in court in West Palm Beach.

Chief Jones says he has 14 officers and a minimum of two to four are in court each week. "In March I had four officers who had to go to West Palm Beach at one time," he said.

Jury trials were ended in the Glades after the Supreme court overturned a man's conviction, saying he wasn't tried by a jury consisting of a fair representation of the county's demographics.

Belle Glade resident Shari Lohmann, who attended Thursday's meeting, said she felt some positive things had come out of the meeting and the panel, made up mostly of

Belle Glade city employees to get bonuses, raises

By Brenda Bunting

Belle Glade Commissioners praised a Phase II salary compensation plan for city employees after passing the measure Monday night.

"I'm pleased. I think we did a good job," said Mayor Harma Miller. "We are not rewarding people, we are upgrading the positions."

"The plan gives every city employee a one-time bonus of $50 for each year they have worked for the city and salary raises for many of the employees."

Commissioners agreed over a year ago to hire MGT. of America, Inc. to study the city's wage scale as compared to other cities. The company came back with a plan to bring salaries for employees and department heads more in line with the average for other comparable cities in Florida.

Phase I of the plan, which took effect in April 1999, gave pay increases for some new employees.

Finance Director Dave Wood said the new bonuses and pay increases will cost the city $496,164, with about $155,000 of that coming out of this year's budget. The longevity bonuses will be given in September.

Pahokee PD to contract for a police officer at Sago Palm Academy

Pahokee Police Chief Gary Frechette told the Pahokee City Commission at their regular meeting July 11 that his department, along with Sago Palm Academy and Securor expect to formalize an agreement in August for the management company to fund a full time position for a resource officer at the campus.

Captain Frechette said the officer, who would be stationed at the juvenile facility during the day, would teach students, serve as a deterrent to crime at the facility and would be available to work assaults and other incidents at the facility.

"We do tie up a lot of man hours when several assaults take place and it is our responsibility," Chief Frechette said.

If the agreement is reached, it will be the first of its kind in the state of Florida, Captain Frechette said, adding that the Department of Juvenile Justice is excited about the new dimension it will add to law enforcement.

The chief said once the agreement is approved by Sago Palm, he will bring it back to the commission for final approval.

In other business, Captain Frechette said the department is making progress in its effort to remove dilapidated vehicles from city property.

"A lot of the vehicles are disappearing. Some of the citizens are a little concerned, a little upset about it, but it is the code," Chief Frechette said, adding that he is working closely with the code enforcement department and is attending code enforcement board meetings to address citizens' complaints.

"People take the red tag off and then expect another 10 days. That's not the ordinance. Once the red tag goes on, we maintain a record and in 10 days, we go back and if the tag's off, it's towed by rotation wrecker. But it is making a difference," Captain Frechette said.

The chief said the department has been issuing warning tickets to speeders on Bacom Point Road and East Main Street and is anticipating making a number of arrests if speeders don't heed the warnings.

The commissioners said they have received a lot of good reports concerning the police department.

Mayor Roy Singletary said residents have been pleased to see the new chief, in uniform, out with other officers walking the beat and talking to residents.

Commissioner Pete Moore said he has received compliments from other cities about efforts to "straighten things up over there."

Hurricane shelter site to be chosen by City of Pahokee

By Tracy Whirls
Associate Editor

After meeting with Palm Beach County Emergency Management officials and representatives of the American Red Cross, Pahokee City Manager Ken Schenck told members of the Pahokee commission at their regular meeting July 11 that the city has no certified hurricane shelters and recommended the city designate which facilities would be used in the event of a hurricane.

Mr. Schenck said the entire Glades area has only one certified shelter, the new Lake Shore Middle School, and he could not recommend the city bus people in the event of a storm.

"At one point they said we could bus people to Lake Shore, but that's not going to work. Palm Tran is not going to send a bus out here with a hurricane coming down on everybody."

Mr. Schenck said, noting the facility could not possibly serve all the residents from Belle Glade, Pahokee and South Bay who might need shelter.

Three Pahokee facilities have been discussed to be used as shelters: the second floor of the old Everglades Regional Medical Center, the high school gym or cafeteria at the old high school. Mr. Schenck said they would not designate the new gym at Pahokee High School as a shelter because of its expansion. They would not formally certify either the old gym or cafeteria because the walls have not been reinforced with steel and inspectors expressed concern about the windows, Mr. Schenck said.

Mr. Schenck noted the new roof on the old gym is constructed to withstand 125 mph winds and that windows could be boarded over.

Clerk of the Circuit Court Dorothy Wilken was in town last Thursday to present a check to the Glades Area Association for Retarded Citizens for $1,270. The money came from her employees in the county who participate in the Dress Down Friday program. Each employee in the clerk's office who participates pays $4 a pay period and the money is donated to various non-profit organizations. Mrs. Wilken said over two-thirds of the employees participate and vote on which agencies will receive the money. AmeriTech hosts summer computer camp for school children

By Tracy Whirls

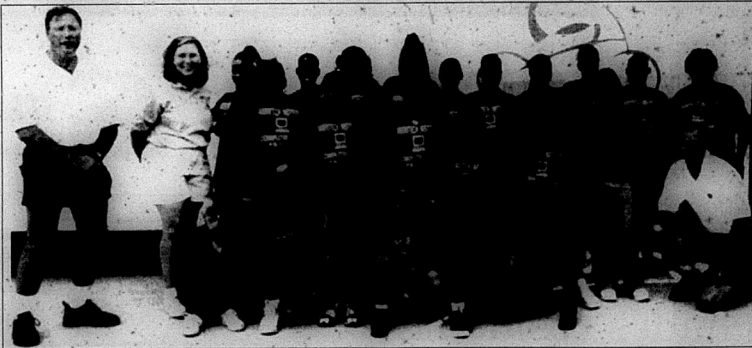

Twenty-one South Bay school children, ages 6-13 are participating in a unique summer educational program at AmeriTech Institute in South Bay this summer, exploring different career opportunities while improving their academic and social skills.

The AmeriTech Institute Computer Camp, funded through a grant from the Palm Beach County Housing Authority with transportation and other services provided by the South Bay Police Department, is a six-week program, from 10-a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday-Friday.

The program begins with military style drill instruction conducted by South Bay Community Policing Officer Terry Moore at the housing complex. The children are then transported to the AmeriTech Institute where they are encouraged to read a book a day, present oral book reports, use computer programs emphasizing science and history, and improve their academic skills.

Each week of the program emphasizes a different vocational or professional skill, and presenters from different fields visit the classroom to make presentations to the students concerning careers in environmental science, hospitality and travel, health, communications and law enforcement.

An extensive video library covering the various topics the campers will explore was purchased, and videos are shown before and after field trips to reinforce what has been learned. The children are given lists of vocabulary words related to each profession and children are encouraged to learn to spell those words and are taught how to write thank you letters to the presenters who visit their classroom. In addition, each week, the children are taken on field trips to visit various facilities representing the different careers. The students have visited the USSC Experimental Station Insect Laboratory in Clewiston, the South Bay Police Department, Fire Department and Library, the Belle Glade Court House and the Marine Life Center in Jupiter.

In addition to the career exploration workshops, computer classes and the emphasis on reading and writing, the students receive instruction from Dr. Mary Tuggle, a speech pathologist and teacher Hope Walters in etiquette and proper decorum.

According to AmeriTech president Jack Jones, when the school was approached by the Housing Authority to offer the program, he and his staff were determined that the summer camp would be more than a babysitting service.

"We wanted to motivate young people toward a career path," Mr. Jones said. "We talk about the number of professional athletes that come out of the Glades. It's time we start talking about the professional opportunities that are out there."

Mr. Jones said by showing the children what career opportunities are available and the kinds of education and training professionals must acquire to be successful in those careers, the children will be inspired to stay in school and work toward continuing their educations at Palm Beach Community College or Florida Atlantic University.

"The real reward will be if they come back later and say, 'That little summer program inspired me.

Now I'm a biologist,' he said.

Mr. Jones said AmeriTech is working with the Palm Beach County School District to devise a plan that would allow the facility to serve as an afterschool program.

"We have the best equipped facility in South Bay to serve as a community center. Our mission is to serve the entire community," Mr. Jones said, adding that the adult students enrolled in the Institute's general office/customer service and health careers programs have received the young people very well.

Mr. Jones said AmeriTech hopes to expand its program offerings this fall to include classes for seniors who want to learn about the Internet, health information classes on obesity, diabetes and first aid and other topics.

Raise up a child

"We have been taught wrong from right from the beginning. The bible says 'train up a child in the way he should go and when he gets old, he will not depart from it', but the first thing we teach is how to smoke pot, curse, etc. Children learn how to dance before they walk."

The Bible says we should not steal or kill, but we do it and the child thinks it's okay. In my day, any grownup could whip anybody's child if they were misbehaving, but now, we can't even whip our own children.

We never heard of children's homes then, but now, since people need jobs, they put them in homes and the children come out worse than when they went in.

We talk about prayer, but it's going to take more than prayer to get these children straightened out.

I think when we get to hell it will be too late for not doing what the Lord says to do because we are the cause of our children not doing right."

No right turn

"After all the wonderful work that they did on the 7th Street Bridge, they then went and put up a 'No Right Turn' sign on Avenue E going onto old SR 80.

I don't understand that, but I abide by it because there's a posted sign and that's the law.

However, I would like to see this enforced if it is, indeed, going to be there, because I have been passed on the left by people who then turn right. I'm honked at repeatedly by people behind me who don't see the sign apparently and want me to turn against the sign.

I'd just like to see this law enforced if they don't want us to turn right. All these people who continue to run this light need to be ticketed.

Thank you."

Still celebrating

"I'm calling on behalf of several residents who are sick to death of the firecrackers. It is July 16 and it is still going on. The city should have taken care of this a long time ago. They should have set up an ordinance where firecrackers wouldn't be allowed before the 4th of July or after the 4th.

We think now, people should be fined $100 for firecrackers. We are so tired of it. This has been going on continually for weeks.

You can sign this, residents who are sick to death of firecrackers and the inconsiderate people who keep doing this."

Probation

"I don't understand our probation system. I don't even see any purpose that it really serves.

I know people who are on probation in Belle Glade and they have been arrested two or three times and they still drink and they still use drugs and they're still not put in jail.

Why do we even have probation officers? They do not follow up on the people. Thank you."

Training needed

"Hi. It's me again. I'm staying a concerned citizen.

I'm not going by what anyone else says. I have seen this with my own eyes.

School is opening up in August and the school crossing guards still need some training. I have seen them standing up talking to another crossing guard and telling the children to go ahead and cross the bridge.

The crossing guards need to be trained on how to direct the children across the bridge and across the street. They also wait until the light turns green and then use their sign to get the kids across the street.

They need more training before school starts."

Beautification

"I don't know who is making these decisions in Pahokee about this so-called beautification of the city.

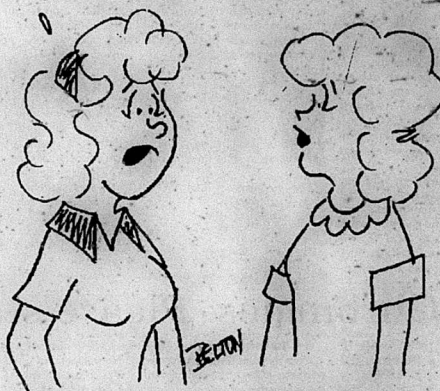

Everything is so congested already that you can hardly find a parking space. It was bad enough before, now it is worse. I think you are looking to have quite a few accidents at the corner of Glades Drugs."

Road is nice

"I just wanted to say how nice State Road 715 is now that it has finally been repaved.

Now, if we could just get the bridge fixed, it would be great!

Editor's note: The 715 Bridge has been closed since March 8, 2000. We spoke with Ladora Miller, technical assistant for F.R. Harris Construction Services, Inc. in Pahokee whose company is working on the bridge. She said work is progressing on the bridge and is ongoing. Just because we don't always see activity, she says, this doesn't mean things are behind schedule. The City of Belle Glade will be responsible for water lines and Florida Power and Light has work to do, also. She said the bridge should be opened in November.

"You're going shopping with your mom?
How embarrassing."

Letters to the Editor

Legislators should enforce the law

Dear Editor:

In 1988 the voters of the State of Florida adopted a Constitutional Amendment, by a large majority, that made English the Official Language of the State of Florida. It then gave the legislature the power to enforce this amendment by appropriate legislation. What has the legislature done under this directive from the voters of the State of Florida? To date nothing!

It is time for the voters of the State of Florida to wake up our legislators and demand that they do their duty by implementing this constitutional amendment. Draft legislation so that those who came to the United States, for many reasons, will slowly become part of this country with a slow but sure adoption of English. Encourage immigrants to accept English as the official language of the state and then have them show that they want to become part of their adopted country by making English the language they use in every day business dealings and finally at home with their families.

As I traveled in many foreign countries I found that the greatest divisive characteristic of people in the world, is not race, religion or sex but language. If immigrants speak English in their adopted country they will have a better understanding of those people who live in the country where millions have adopted and decided to make it their country and become part of main stream America.

The legislature must make it their responsibility to take up the challenge that the voters gave them when giving them power to implement that Article of our Constitution.

Voters in Florida should urge all candidates, running for the legislature, to make it part of their campaign pledge to use that power given to them by the voters of the State of Florida.

Those candidates who refuse to accept the challenge to do their part to make Florida a better state with the pledge to bring all immigrants into main stream America by bringing English to them and their children, should be defeated at the voting booth.

We should make it a requirement that to become a citizen one must have a working knowledge of English. Can we ask for less from those who came here to the promise land?

Richard Kay,

Coordinator of Wake Up Our Legislators

Being a child is no excuse for criminal behavior

Dear Editor:

The Academy at Pahokee Middle/Senior High School put on a play this past May. It was entitled "A Teenager Is..."

It was a teen's-eye view of the world today as seen and experienced by them. It consisted of nine acts that dealt with self-love, self-esteem, teen pregnancy, abortion, problems involving relationships and commitments. It dealt with teen involvement in gangs, drug use, the aspect of fatherhood and its importance as well as death and the reality and choices it brings with it.

The first play was conducted the 15th of May at 7 pm which was open to the public and community. About 50-60 people showed up, both parents and students. I viewed the first show and I was very impressed with what I saw and how much time and effort was put into its production. To me it was a vivid, realistic, slap in the face that dealt with teen issues that every teen sooner or later deals with. It encouraged people to be responsible for their own actions. It also showed that teens are not all bad and we can do anything as long as we have the best foot forward and the right attitude.

The kids in the Glades wanted to show that they were more than talk. They were about action. The second production was the 18th of May for both the middle and high school students. Ironically, the middle school session went very well. They were attentive, respectful, and courteous.

The high school students however were disrespectful and rude.

We must show our children that they cannot do what they want and that no one will do anything, because my mother always told me "if you do the crime you will do the time". Being a child should no longer be an excuse to get away with a crime, and our children need to know this.

In my opinion, Nathaniel Brazil should be tried as an adult for the slaying of a teacher. I believe that he should receive the maximum punishment for murder, just like any other person would receive. All the people who say he shouldn't be charged as an adult must think how they would feel if it was their loved one, and how they would want the maximum punishment.

I can forgive almost anything but I cannot forgive child molesters, rapists, and most of all murderers. I have no sympathy for these types of people because they have no sympathy or care for their victims.

I am a teenager and I have sympathy for his parents, but it was out of their hands when their son pulled the trigger.

America was founded on the principles of law and order and we must uphold the respect of the law. We must carry out these laws and they state that murder is prohibited. We must also carry out punishments for such crimes, even if that means charging a 13 year old boy as an adult.

The law must prevail and I shudder to think what it would be like if the law did not prevail.

Don't open windows if tornado approaches

Mike Lyons

"Sorry, I don't do windows." That's what I said to my wife the other day while we were cleaning the house. A lot of folks think they should, however, especially when a tornado is approaching.

Chances are you've heard this advice before: if a tornado is heading toward your house, open the windows. If you don't, according to this advice, your house will explode.

The theory suggests that if you don't open the windows, the air pressure inside your house would be greater than the air pressure outside the house, particularly inside the partial vacuum of the tornado. This difference in air pressure would force the walls and roof of your house to push outward and collapse.

"It's rubbish," said Dr. Joe Eagleman. "All opening your windows will do is get your carpet wet."

Eagleman is a professor of meteorology at the University of Kansas and an expert in tornadoes. He's the author of "Severe and Unusual Weather," a book that examines, among other things, tornadoes and their effect on buildings.

First off, houses aren't air tight," he said. "In other words, houses have openings other than windows that will relieve pressure differences. Secondly, it's the strong wind of a tornado that knocks down the wall of a house, not the air pressure."

Eagleman and other researchers spend a lot of time going over houses hit by tornadoes. In most cases, they discovered that only three walls had fallen outward, not all four as you might expect if the house had exploded.

"We noticed that the windward wall, the wall first exposed to the tornado, had blown inward," he said. "That means it was the wind from the tornado, not the pressure differences, that knocked down the wall."

So, opening your windows won't help and it could actually hurt. Dr. Eagleman says flying debris from a tornado often breaks the window. "That allows the wind inside the house," he said. "When that happens the wind will push up on the roof and out on the walls destroying the house."

Eagleman's research indicates that winds as low as 60 miles an hour can lift a roof if it is not attached properly. If the roof goes, Eagleman says, chances are the walls will follow, often giving the false impression that the house has exploded.

"The winds of a tornado can top 200 miles an hour," he says. "So, don't run around your house opening windows. It doesn't do any good and it wastes time."

So, what should you do when a tornado is approaching? "The northeast part of the first floor is generally the safest," he says. Most tornadoes move in a northeasterly direction exposing the south and west walls to the strongest winds. "If any walls are blown in," Eagleman says, "it is generally the south and west walls."

A closet or a bathroom are good choices as well. Generally, you want to seek shelter on the lowest level of your house and away from all windows. Tornadoes strike quickly, sometimes without warning, so it is important that you know where to go. In most cases, you'll only have a few seconds to respond. The next time a "tornado warning" is issued for your area remember what I told my wife: "I don't do windows." Neither should you when a tornado is coming.

Dulany named Belle Glade Lion of the Year

By Sherida Woodham

The Belle Glade Lion's Club selected Lion Philip A. Dulany for the club's Lion of the Year for 2000 award. The award is given to an outstanding Lion who is chosen through secret ballot by the membership at large. Mr. Dulany has been a long term key officer in the club, giving freely of his time and unwavering devotion while exemplifying the true spirit of Lionism. Mr. Dulany also received this prestigious award in 1988, 1992 and 1996.

Mr. Dulany grew up in Pahokee. After graduating from college he set up permanent residence in Belle Glade in 1959. In September, 1969, Lion Phil was sponsored by the late Lion H.V. "Shorty" Draa who was his beloved father-in-law and mentor in helping Lion Phil to achieve a high level of devoted Lionism. The late Ruth Wedgworth, a great benefactor to the community, was also an inspiration to Lion Phil. When asked why he is such an active Lions Club member, Mr. Dulany said he has a personal commitment to serving his community as well as enjoying the fellowship in the club.

Mr. Dulany has been a mentor to several of the most recent past presidents of the club. He has encouraged them to be like him in doing their part to serve the community and counseled them on filling leadership roles. Lion Phil Dulany is an outstanding individual who is a great asset to the Belle Glade Lions Club and the community, club members said in honoring Mr. Dulany with the Lion of the Year award.

Mr. Dulany and his lovely wife Sandra have raised three children, Philip Dulany, Deborah (Dulany) Welch and Dewitt Dulany. Mr. Dulany has been employed by Wedgworth's, Inc. since 1965.

United Way of Palm Beach County Board votes Urban League back to member agency in good standing

On July 6, United Way of Palm Beach County's board of directors has unanimously voted to return the Urban League of Palm Beach County to full status as a funded member agency in good standing. This was announced July 6 at a joint press conference held at the Urban League office in West Palm Beach.

In October 1999, United Way's board voted to place the Urban League on suspension status. While making that decision, United Way offered its assistance and support to help the Urban League meet the standards required of all member agencies. Immediately following this decision, the Urban League began to take significant measures to come into compliance with United Way's standards, and to embark upon an ambitious nine-month process of renewal and re-direction. One of the first steps taken by the Urban League was to select Bruce McDonald, noted community leader, as their interim CEO. Next, the Urban League, with the assistance of United Way and the Economic Council, identified new board members who, along with existing board members, formed a new governing body which has established an impressive track record of moving forward as an organization.

In addition to taking the necessary measures to come into compliance, the Urban League has generated corporate and individual support of its programs. At the press conference, the Urban League recognized Florida Power and Light and Office Depot as the first two members of their Corporate Roundtable of supporters. Florida Power and Light has provided the services of Paul Seal to serve as the full-time chairman of the Urban League until December 31.

United Way was recognized for a special one-time $20,000 emergency assistance grant to the Urban League to help spearhead the development of needed programs. The Urban League also recognized Art Kobacker, community volunteer and local philanthropist, who has donated funds to the non-profit organization.

"The turnaround made by the Urban League since October is very impressive," said Scott Badesch, president and chief professional officer of United Way of Palm Beach County. "Today's Urban League is strong, viable and effective. The community now needs to increase its support of this very important social change agency."

Urban League Chairman Paul Seal said "The Urban League we have today is being supported by our membership and other individuals in our community. With the development of a strong Corporate Roundtable and the help from United Way, we know that our future is very bright and that we will be able to provide more services for those who proudly serve."

"The announcement today could not have been made without thanking several key individuals."

Annual Women's Conference slated for Aug. 25-26

Rev. & Mrs. Edwin Coffie and the Mt. Calvary Baptist Church of Palm Coast will host their Annual Women's Conference on Friday, August 25th and Saturday, August 26th. The theme for the event is "Serenity in the Trinity."

Today's women are expected to function without fail at home, at church, in the community and on the job. Collectively these expectations place women under pressure. This pressure causes women to search for moments of peace to regroup, refuel and recharge. A special event honoring Christian women will provide a reminder of the refuge that is found in the Father, Son and the Holy Spirit.

The City of Belle Glade was very well represented at last year's conference with members of the Mt. Calvary Baptist Church (Raiderville) and the St. Johns Baptist Church of Belle Glade filling two chartered buses to attend this grand event. Due to capacity crowds in past years, a new conference location has been selected. This year's Women's Conference will be held at the Wadsworth Auditorium on Belle Terre Parkway in Palm Coast.

The conference schedule includes an Evening to Exhale on Friday which will feature Caribbean Cuisine, fun, games and great prizes. On Saturday, the conference will convene with Morning Glory Praise & Worship with Gospel Recording Artist, Zaneta Whipple as the Worship Leader.

Conference Topics and Facilitators include: "The Battle is Not Yours, It's the Lord's," Dr. Ivory Webb Smith, Bibleway Christian Ministries; "By One, Get One Free," Pastor Pat Coley-Ford, Palm Coast; "The Reason Why We Sing," First Lady Barbara M. Bush, Allen Chapel A.M.E. Church, Daytona; "Sir Up the Girls," Rev. Jeanette Graham, Tubman-King Community Church, Daytona; "My Money is Funny and My Change is Strange," Pedro Dash, Primeria Financial Services and "The Anointing Makes the Difference," Evangelist Ernestine Burkes. Special sessions for young ladies (ages 8-16) include "I Love Me Some ME!" and "Where Do You Think You're Going?" These sessions will be conducted by Rose Haile and Charles Evans, For Girls

Only, Inc., Daytona.

Early Registration for the conference will continue until August 15th. The Early Registration fee is $20 per adult / $10 per youth. After August 15th, the Registration fee will be $25 per adult / $10 per youth. All meals and conference literature are included in the registration fee.

The request conference brochures or obtain additional information please call Carol Coffie (904) 258-9754. Registration fees (check or money order) may be forwarded to MCBWC, P.O. Box 354651, Palm Coast, Fla. 32135.

Thank You

We would like to take this opportunity to express our sincere gratitude to Brother Jim Bennett, Shelton Upthegrove, family and many friends for all the phone calls, visits, food, cards, flowers and other expressions of love and concern during the sudden loss of our beloved mother, grandmother, great grandmother and mother-in-law, Millie J. Peacock Peader "Granny". She was loved by all who knew her and will be missed very much.

A special thanks to the Canal Point Baptist Church for the dinner which was lovingly prepared for us following the graveside service. We will always be grateful for everything each of you did for us during this sorrowful time.

God Bless Each of You.

The Family of Millie J. "Granny" Peacock Peader

A Tribute to Millie J. Peacock Peader "Granny"

The past 60 years were the most precious times ever shared with my Mother.

She had eight sons and one daughter who loved her deeply. In the 88 years she lived, she was loved and admired by everyone who knew her. She was known for her love, faith, strength and courage.

She loved her children so dearly, that her richest nest kept growing and loving before her death.

This is such a great loss, that such memories will go on forever.

With her children at her bedside, her last comforting words were "I am ready". We all know that Mother's home now is in Heaven, and we will all be reunited with her soon.
